

DAAD Training Module: International Networking

Trainer:

El-Tobgui, Mona Dr.

Language Of Instruction:

English

Target Group:

PhD candidates, Postdocs, teaching staff,
Team leaders

Duration:

1 Day (6 + 1 hours/ 9am-3pm)

CONTENT

This course is an introduction to networking. It will shed light on the meaning of networking and the tools required for successful networking.

During the course the trainees will be working in groups and interactively to acquire knowledge about:

- The meaning and importance of networking
- The different types of networks
- How to evaluate the different networks
- How to benefit from participating in a network
- How to create an own network and promote for it

LEARNING OUTCOME

- Explain the culture of networking and its principles
- Acknowledge the importance of networking and appreciate networks
- Identify and evaluate networks
- Master some tools to support and/or create networks

ORGANIZATIONAL REMARKS

Training Methods:

- Theoretical inputs and presentations
- Practice through open class and group discussions, interactive sessions, case studies, role playing and more
- Self-reflection and application on business side

Deutscher Akademischer Austauschdienst
German Academic Exchange Service

Deutscher Akademischer Austauschdienst
German Academic Exchange Service

TRAINER PROFILE

Mona Mohamed El Tobgui is an assistant Professor at the National Research Centre and the Senior Advisor of Fraunhofer in Egypt.

© El Tobgui